By Dick Barry

This morning the Northeast Conference Champion Saugus Sachems with an overall record of 8 wins and one defeat face the mighty Tanners of Peabody, who are currently enjoying a six game winning streak and have a season's record of seven wins and two defeats.

The Saugus squad features many returnees from last year's team which suffered a humiliating loss at the hands of the Tanners, so it is easy to see why pride and prestige are also on the line this morning. In fairness to Peabody Coach, Art Adamopolous, it should be pointed out that most Saugus fans were in agreement that the Tanners did not go out of their way to run up the score. It was just a case of an excellent Peabody squad doing everything right and an undermanned Saugus squad riddled by injuries, being unable to handle the onslaught.

The Saugus attack will be led by premier quarterback George Nicolo and outstanding running backs Dan Hashem and Paul Nigro. Triple threat Jack Coffey could be the key to today's game if he comes up with another big performance like he has in recent games.

Paul and Frankie Serino could also be featured performers if George Nicolo decides to open up his aerial circus early. Saugus's front line soldiers led by Frank Doyle have been outstanding all year and if they are going to win the battle of the trenches today, which is where the game is probably going to be decided, they will need big game performances from stellar performers Mike Allen, Don Trainor, Tim Fawcett and Brian Riley.

Peabody's offense today will feature strong running back Mark Nalesnik, speedy Keith Wooley and their excellent fullback John Goulos. Their excellent defense unit will be anchored by their big punishing tackle Bob Sullivan.

Regardless of the final outcome today, both teams should leave the field with their heads high because they truly have emerged as the two finest teams on the North Shore and that is quite an accomplishment.
